REC'D [Signature]

Introduced by SENATOR FERDINAND R. MARCOS, JR.

EXPLANATORY NOTE

Land governance, in the context of rapid development and urbanization, requires a land administration and management (LAM) system that is efficient, effective and equitable. Within this system operates the real property valuation sector, which is an integral component of LAM and a major contributor to a country's socio-economic development.

For so long, the country's real property sector has operated within an ineffective, inequitable, and inefficient valuation system. The problem is aggravated by the lack of national valuation standards that harmonize the valuations in the government and the private sector. With 23 national government agencies and almost 1,300 local government units (LGUs), along with private appraisers performing valuation using different methods and standards, the sector has been riddled with inconsistent real property values—where one property has conflicting values. Such condition has crippled the Government, both at the local and the national levels, to fully tap the potential of the land sector, and resulted to foregone revenues from national and local real property-related taxes. The resulting condition is unrealized fiscal sustainability.

In the LGUs, the problems are more dramatic as the technical process of real property valuation is easily comingled with property taxation, which is a political exercise of elective LGU officials; thus, compromising the capacity of LGUs to generate revenues from real property from which they could sufficiently fund public goods and services for their constituencies. Considered as the main source of locally sourced revenue, the outdated Schedule of Market Values (SMVs), averaging from 10 to 12 years old, greatly narrowed the LGUs' real property tax base while increasing inequity in real property taxation. With the approval of SMVs assigned to the local councils, valuation, as a technical function, is often influenced by highly politicized decisions—far from the democratic tenet of the greater good. Since most of LGU values no longer reflect the true conditions of the local property market, the country's valuation system has acted as a disincentive for private investors to take a more vibrant role in economic development. In the same vein, many government-led projects and investments have been delayed due to just compensation issues and lengthy court litigations.

As the Government pursues reforms in the LAM sector, this bill proposes to institutionalize valuation reforms starting from the LGUs by adopting a market-based SMV that is governed by uniform valuation standards based on international best practices, methods, and techniques. The existing expertise of LGU assessors, who are now subject to the professionalization and regulation requirements of Republic Act No. 9646 or the Real Estate Service Act of 2009, will be the critical players of the reform process. In turn, SMVs shall be the basis of local and national real property taxation, and as benchmark for other purposes by other government agencies and instrumentalities. A national real property transactions database shall also be established to increase transparency and build public trust in the valuation sector.

Furthermore, the bill proposes to strengthen and reorganize the Bureau of Local Government Finance (BLGF), under the Department of Finance, to assume institutional responsibility for the proposed reforms. The BLGF, through the creation of the Real Property Valuation Service (RPVS), is envisioned to conduct review of the SMVs and recommend for approval of the Secretary of Finance—thereby, separating the technical function of valuation from the political function of taxation. Thus, political backlash are minimized, and local officials are insulated from public pressures in the revision of SMVs.

In the end, this bill seeks to create a sustainable government platform for the institutionalization of valuation reforms in the country, and achieve a more rational LAM sector that will allow the Government to fully tap the potential of real property both at the national and local levels.

In view of the foregoing, the immediate passage of this bill is earnestly sought.

S. NO. 2981

RECEIVED BY:

Introduced by SENATOR FERDINAND R. MARCOS, JR.

AN ACT INSTITUTING REFORMS IN REAL PROPERTY VALUATION AND ASSESSMENT IN THE PHILIPPINES, REORGANIZING THE BUREAU OF LOCAL GOVERNMENT FINANCE, AND APPROPRIATING FUNDS THEREFOR

Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Philippines in Congress assembled:

SECTION 1. Short Title. – This Act shall be known as the "THE REAL PROPERTY VALUATION AND ASSESSMENT REFORM ACT OF 2011."

ARTICLE I
DECLARATION OF POLICY AND OBJECTIVES, AND DEFINITION OF TERMS

SECTION 2. Declaration of Policy and Objectives. – It is the policy of the State to promote the development and maintenance of a just, equitable, impartial, and nationally consistent real property valuation based on internationally accepted valuation standards, concepts, principles, and practices. Towards this end, the State shall:

- (a) Promote the fiscal autonomy of local governments to provide basic services to their constituency by enhancing their capacity to generate local revenues from real property;
- (b) Establish and maintain valuation standards to govern the valuation of real property in the country;
- (c) Adopt market value as the single real property valuation base for the assessment of real property related taxes in the country, and for valuing or appraising real property for various transactions by all government agencies;
- (d) Separate the function of valuing or appraising of real properties from the functions of tax policy and administering the taxes due thereon;
- (e) Support the development and professionalization of the valuation/appraisal practice in the country pursuant to Republic Act No. 9646;
- (f) Provide a comprehensive and up-to-date electronic database of all real property transactions;
- (g) Support the development of a "body of knowledge" on valuation by continuing research and monitoring of new developments in the valuation discipline, for upgrading the country's valuation and keeping it abreast with global developments; and

- (h) Ensure transparency in real property transactions to protect the public and develop confidence in the work of appraisers and assessors.

SECTION 3. Definition of Terms. – As used in this Act, the following terms mean:

- (a) Appraiser refers to a person who conducts valuation/appraisal; specifically, one who possesses the necessary qualifications, license, ability, and experience to execute or direct the valuation/appraisal of real property; also known as valuer.
- (b) Assessor refers to an official in the local government unit, who is a licensed appraiser, who performs appraisal and assessment of real properties, including plant, machinery and equipment, essentially for taxation and other purposes. This definition also includes assistant assessors.
- (c) Building refers to a man-made structure permanently attached to land for residential, commercial, industrial, recreational or other purposes.
- (d) Improvements refer to a valuable addition made to a property or an amelioration in its condition, amounting to more than a mere repair or replacement of parts involving capital expenditures and labor, which is intended to enhance its value, beauty or utility or to adapt it for new or further purposes.
- (e) Land refers to one of the major factors of production consisting sometimes of a material economic good, which is supplied by nature without the aid of man. Land may include not only the earth surface, both land and water, but also anything that is attached to the earth's surface. Thus, all natural resources in their original state, such as mineral deposits, wildlife, timber, and fish, are land within the technical meaning of the term; so also are sources of energy, outside of man himself, such as water, coal deposits, and the natural fertility of the soil.
- (f) Machinery refers to machines, equipment, mechanical contrivances, instruments, appliances or apparatus which may or may not be attached, permanently or temporarily, to the real property. It includes the physical facilities for production, the installations and appurtenant service facilities, those which are mobile, self-powered or self-propelled and those not permanently attached to the real property which are actually, directly and exclusively used to meet the needs of the particular industry, business or activity and which by their very nature and purpose are designed for, or necessary to its manufacturing, mining, logging, commercial, industrial or agricultural purposes.
- (g) Market Value refers to the estimated amount for which a property should exchange on the date of valuation between a willing buyer and a willing seller in an arm's length transaction (a transaction between independent, unrelated parties involving no irregularity) after proper marketing wherein the parties had each acted knowledgeably, prudently, and without compulsion.
- (h) Private appraisal sector refers to licensed non-governmental real estate service practitioners who have been active in the practice of real estate appraisal for the last five (5) years.
- (i) Real Estate refers to the land and all those items which are attached to the land. It is the physical, tangible entity, together with all the additions or improvements on, above or below the ground.

- (j) Real Property refers to all the rights, interests, and benefits related to the ownership of real estate, plant, machinery, and equipment.
- (k) Schedule of Market Values, hereinafter referred to as SMV, refers to a table of market values of real properties within a local government unit prepared by assessors pursuant to existing laws, rules and regulations.
- (l) Special Purpose Property refers to a property which is designed, constructed and developed for a specific use or purpose. By its very nature, this type of property is rarely offered for sale in the open market except as part of a going concern. Because of the special design and function, conversion of special purpose properties to other types of development or application is generally not economically feasible.
- (m) Valuation/Appraisal refers to the systematic and analytic determination and recording of property facts, circumstances, investments, and investigation of other relevant data resulting in a supportable estimate and opinion of value or a professional conclusion based upon supporting data, logical analysis and judgment as of a specific date and for a specific purpose.
